

Social History Book Prize – 2020

The Social History Society has established an annual Book Prize (value £1,000) for the best book in Social History. Now in its third year, we are very happy to announce that we are once again accepting nominations.

To be eligible for consideration for the prize, the book must:

- be at least its author's second history book;
- be on any subject in social history;
- be an original and scholarly work of historical research;
- have been published in English during the calendar year 2018 (and dated 2018), by a scholar or up to three scholars collaborating as co-authors, and normally resident in the United Kingdom.

To be eligible to receive the prize the author or co-authors should be members of the Social History Society.

Publishers are invited to nominate their books. (Please note authors cannot submit their own work.)

In order to do so, please complete the form below and submit one copy (non-returnable) of the eligible book at your earliest convenience, and no later than 31 October 2019. The winner will be announced at our annual conference in June 2020.

Books should be sent to Social History Society, History Department, Bowland College, Lancaster University, Lancaster, LA1 4YT, UK.

Should the book be shortlisted, an additional copy will be required. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact us at socialhistorysoc@gmail.com

Social History Society Book Prize Nomination Form

We [publisher's name] nominate [book title] to be considered for the Social History Society Book Prize (2020).

We confirm that the book meets the SHS Book Prize criteria.